Henry Rockefeller (Jacob Blair)

As a self made millionaire I wake up at 4am everyday to check my stocks portfolio and workout. Though my last name may be Rockefeller, I only started out with a few hundred thousand from my family.

By 7am, I've already had 5 cold showers alongside my 10 espresso shots to get off to a good day. Next up breakfast!

I go to my favorite gourmet breakfast chain, Starbucks. And could you believe that they did not know my name or order! I'm going to have to get my father on them.

Instead of apologizing for their ignorance, they tell me to install this new app. FoodFast+. For a measly $5 a month (peasant change) I can save my favorite orders, cancel orders, and even fast track my food. I told them that no one tells me what to do except for my daddy and stormed off. Then downloaded the app of course.

After a tiring day of watching my portfolio decrease 3%, I am starving. Instead of having a butler bring me food i decide to use my invaluable time. I decide to use the FoodFast+ app and order ahead to McDonalds and save my time.

And just then, my father called me from his office in the empire state building. I am needed for some boring meeting. Thankfully with this new app I am able to cancel my order and save the time small time of those workers.

Joe Johnson (Brandon Wells)

My name is Joe Johnson, and I like to wake up early to catch up on my sports-watching.

In the morning, I need some fast and good food so that my day can get up and going.

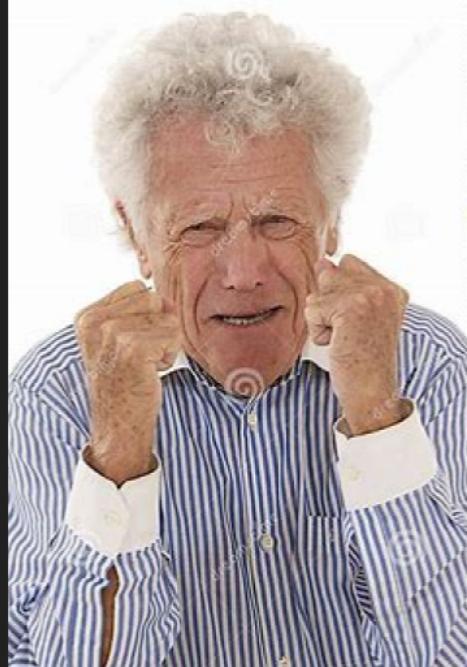

GRUBHUB

I go to my local eatery to get that food, and ordering kiosk says that the lines are short. Time to order my food.

I have ordered my food over half an hour ago and I still haven't gotten my food yet! I have places to be. If only I had a way to actually know how long the wait was going to be.

Wait a minute,
these students at this eatery are using an app called “Grubhub for Students”.

Maybe I could use
it too.

3 days later...

Wow, this app sure is helpful. It allows me to see how long the wait is before ordering my food, and allows me to cancel my order after paying and get a refund if I change my mind. This app is awesome!

Jackie Chung (Gerome Vergara)

Jackie had a little meet up with her Sorority Sister's just wanting to hang out. But what they had in their hands surprised her

In their hands were Starbucks drinks that were unrecognizable, she was too nervous to ask and decided to hold back for now, but she was wildly curious and it made her feel like she did not fit in with today's trends.

After their little hang out, her best friend, Lulu, came to talk to her on the way out and asked, "What's wrong?" She was so embarrassed; she broke down and explained her the situation

"Don't worry about it," Lulu said, "they were drinking this, it's trending." She proceeded to show her a list of trending Starbucks drinks in an app unrecognizable to her.

"It's called Grubhub for Students, look they show you trending drinks like what other students are drinking nowadays. It has a lot niftier features like even not showing drinks or food items that have peanuts because of your peanut allergy."

Jackie lit up, and instantly downloaded the app. Now she can fit in perfectly with her sorority sisters and always be in trend for food and drinks.
